Our Sites Look Good on Mobile Devices

Palmerworks websites are designed to look good on any device. The technical term for this is “responsive design.” It adapts to many screen sizes thanks to its responsive capabilities:

- Automatically responds to the screen size of the device
- Looks good on desktops, laptops, tablets, and smart phones
- Offers ease of use for reading and navigation
- Changes the menu to touch swipe functionality on smaller devices
- Keeps the clean, modern design all the way down to smaller screen sizes

The Palmerworks site is an example of a responsive site. Every element has been tweaked for different screen sizes to make sure it looks great no matter what the device. Try resizing your browser window to see the adaptation.

Call or email us today to discuss how we can create a professional, responsive site for your company or organization.
